Net Balance of $29 Turned In---Chamber of Commerce Hears Many Reports on Civic Activities

A fairly good attendance of earnest men were in session at the Chamber of Commerce Wednesday evening. The public affairs committee reported on the organization of the Patriotic League and its progress, the organization having been formed according to the ideas first launched by President Henry I. Cohen.

The membership committee reported on two plans to create great interest in the Chamber and do a world of good. One is the big membership drive to be started in June. The other is a trade development tour to cover range and other nearby towns.

A municipal potato patch five to ten acres in extent financed by the Chamber, which ordered $10 worth of seed bought, will be operated under the direction of the county agent, E. A. Colquhoun and the work done by business men, who will shoulder their hoes and tend the ranks of tubers.

Steps were taken to organize a Scenic Highway committee to promote the same and other beautiful drives in the county, as the tourist season is opening. The Chamber will cooperate with the city and assist to prosecute all dumping garbage or other refuse on drives outside of Brainerd.

The retail trade committee brought in an excellent report on Market Day and the Farmers Free Auction, started by Secretary Fred T. Lincoln. Some 250 farmers were fed at the lunch, and $29 was turned over to the Chamber as net profits. Secretary Lincoln showed figures that the advertising placed on Market Day had reached 24,000 readers, that advertisers as a rule were supremely satisfied and that the whole proceedings had that get and go to it and co-operation of all business men in Brainerd and progressive farmers out of town that success was spelled and that the institution of Market Day will be a permanent feature. However, for May there will be no Market Day, as farmers are so busy plowing and planting that the day will be postponed to June.

Farm preparedness, the shortage of farm help and how to overcome it, and various other questions as discussed at the conference in St. Paul attended by R. R. Wise, were reported on the Chamber by Mr. Wise, followed by the talk of the secretary, Fred T. Lincoln on the part community clubs will play throughout the northwest. And Brainerd, by the way, had already covered and started many of the questions before the conference met.

Three delegates to the Northern Minnesota Development association meeting in Hibbing next June are soon to be appointed by President Cohen.

Half the expense attendant upon County Agent E. A. Colquhoun's attendance at the State Dairyman's committee meeting in St. Paul, preparing for the Brainerd convention, is to be paid by the Chamber.

Secretary Lincoln reported on the farm help bureau started by the Chamber. R. B. Withington spoke on prices paid by merchants for produce and said the highest prices were paid so as to secure the farmers' trade. P. B. Nettleton's resolution was adopted that a committee be appointed on establishing a public market in Brainerd. The committee to be named will confer with the city council.

Mr. Nettleton again brought up the lurid advertising of an outside realty company which mentioned Brainerd and the Cuyuna range in what appeared to be too exuberant a vein. The proper committee will take up the matter.

Three new members were accepted, Goodwin B. Olson, J. D. Barstow and George Allen. Dr. Walter Courtney called attention to the piles of refuse, etc., west of the city hall and said the eyesore should be removed, that it had a depressing effect on people who saw on one side the brand new modern city hall and on the other side an old dump of refuse and fire waste. Such a mass of filth in the very center of the city should be cleaned up and quickly, too. It was referred to a committee to take with the city authorities.

P. B. Nettleton also spoke of the sidewalks adjoining the pile of debris blocked for months. They should be cleaned up too. Dr. J. A. Thabes called attention to the tin can dumping west of Brainerd and the Chamber went on record ordering the practice to cease. A waste paper depot has been established and paper will soon be sent out of the city in carload lots.

ALLIES BARING MISTAKES

Say Placing of Old Officers in High Command is Blunder.
Washington, May 10.—War department officials have been told by military members of the British and French war missions to this country, it was learned, that placing old officers in high commands was one of the early blunders of both the British and French governments. Inadequate results were obtained from the senior officers as a general rule. They had not kept abreast of modern warfare. In the British army there is a brigadier general only twenty-nine years of age and England is about to gazette a brigadier general who is only nineteen years old.

Speculator who Corners Food is a Traitor

(By United Press)
Chicago, May 10.—"The speculator who corners food in war time is a traitor and should be dealt with as such," Carl Vrooman, assistant secretary of agriculture told the United Press. The farmers averaged $1.35 for wheat last year, but look at the price today. A powerful lobby representing those who would rob the public for profit is at work in Washington.

The Tjid's correspondent in Berlin says Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg will answer a peace interpellation in the reichstag Monday. Inventor Staked His Life on Belief in Correctness of His Theories

Dr. Brewster. Uniform with eye slots open. With eye slots closed. Dr. Guy Brewster of Dover, N. J., is an inventor with the courage of his convictions. To prove he had at last found a bullet proof armor for foot soldiers—just the kind needed in the trenches in France—he put on the armor and permitted Sergeant Criswell, a sharpshooter of the United States army, to shoot at a vital part. Officers looked on. The bullet flew off, and there was no damage at all, not even a trace of the shock, which has made all other such inventions useless. The bullet travelled a speed of 2,740 feet a second and carried an impact of 2,400 pounds. It struck over the heart. The armor weighs thirty pounds. It has opening for the eyes which may be closed in case of danger. The body is protected from the thighs up.

Only End War on Basis no Dishonorable Terms Inflicted Upon Nation

(By United Press)
Berlin (via London) May 10.—Germany holds that there is no reason for an offensive against America, but she will not forego her present use of submarine warfare for peace.

War can only be ended on a basis that no dishonorable terms be inflicted upon any nation.

These expressions were obtained by the United Press from two most diverse elements in the German foreign office, and Philipp Schiedemann, representing the socialists.

The foreign office does not regard the torpedoing of American ships in the danger zone prescribed by Germany as hostile action, and the foreign office regards President Wilson's action as "incomprehensible."

England Thinks America Does Not Realize Magnitude

(By United Press)
London, May 10.—The feeling that America does not fully realize her position and the magnitude of the task in the world's war ahead of her is continuously expressed in some quarters. The apprehension is based on the security of the proposed American tax bill, particularly that provision for a 16 per cent excess profits tax. England accepted an 80 per cent tax uncompromisingly.

BRITISH REACH GOAL BUT FORCED TO RETIRE

(By United Press)
With the British Armies, May 10.—The British storming parties which attacked the positions at Traus Savages north of Lens reached their objective but were forced to retire in the heavy German counter attack.

J. C. Barber, millionaire car truck manufacturer of Chicago who has a country estate, "Twin Oaks," at Nokay Lake, is planting every inch of ground with corn, beans, potatoes, barley and oats. Eighteen men are employed on the farm, Elmer Tollefson being foreman and O. N. Parmelee being his secretary and paymaster.

So anxious was Mr. Barber about doing his share in getting out good crops, that he wired from California, where he has been spending the winter and ordered southern Minnesota seed sent by express to his farm. New buildings have been put up on the farm, new acreage cleared and put in crops. Every phase of farm life is carefully looked after, a hospital having been built for cows about to calve.

In Brainerd Mr. Barber has just completed an eight rooms house with water, sewerage and light and painters are putting on the finishing touches. The house is for rent and Mr. Barber has received thirty inquiries for the same. Three more modern homes are to be built for renting purposes.

Mr. Barber has followed with great interest the plans of Crow Wing county for better roads. He is a believer in good roads, building several miles of model roadway at his country place.

He has followed with deep concern the food requirements of the nation and the amount needed by the Allies and in his return from the west said that every station on the railway lines showed the west was awakening to the need of enormous food production. It is no idle talk when one says that the United States will have to feed the world.

Every plot of ground, every garden, every farm cultivated will help swell the big average. Railways are giving lands for cultivation, estates are having idle acres cultivated, desert land is blooming like the rose. No one can say that war has not given agriculture and gardening the greatest impetus it has had in years. Prices for years to come will never reach a low level, so that every farmer is assured of doing business at a fair profit.

In railway lines and the manufacture of accessories, car trucks, etc., the industry is fairly humming. There can be no idle man in the whole United States. If there is such an able bodied one, he is so by choice, said Mr. Barber.

FOR RAILROAD EQUIPMENT Italy to Spend $100,000,000 in the United States.

Washington, May 10.—Negotiations looking to the purchase of more than $100,000,000 worth of railway locomotives, cars, rails and other equipment in the United States will be one of the main purposes of the Italian war commission which is expected to reach this country in about three weeks. A large part of the $100,000,000 already loaned by the United States to the Italian government also is likely to be spent for railroad materials and orders probably will be placed during the commission's stay here. Italian railways, which are government owned and operated, are reported to be suffering greatly from lack of equipment, since most industrial plants formerly supplying the roads now are making munitions.

Pot and Kettle.

There is a proverb much heard now, days that we never could see the sense of, "The pot can't call the kettle black." Why not, we should like to know? The kettle is black. It ought to be called black. Who has a better right to speak with confidence about the faults of the kettle than the pot, which has for years hung on the same crane and inhaled the same smoke? If there is anything that would make the pot seem less sooty in our eyes it is giving us a clear reflection of the image of the kettle. Shall no one point out blackness anywhere unless he knows himself to be speckless? Would the pot rise in our estimation if it followed the custom of its critics and said, "The kettle is white, as white as I am?"—Independent.

Walk For Health.

A state board of health advises: "Take time to walk—or make time to walk. The pernicious habit of hopping on a trolley car to go a block or two robs many of the necessary health preserving exercise they should have. Walk for health!"

The recommendation is sound, but why should those who ride in automobiles be left out? The inveterate users of motorcars need to be told to walk more quite as much as the rest of us. Nowhere is the riding habit easier to acquire than where an automobile is at beck and call. Even the workers who deem the trolley car a necessity would often be advantaged by keeping their nickels in their own pockets and thereby inviting more physical and mental vigor. We are all sinners when it comes to the failure to keep in touch with the open.—Springfield Republican.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

The First Chemical Step in the History of Photography.

The distinction of making the first chemical step in the history of photography belongs to Italy, owing to the discovery by alchemists of the sixteenth century that nitrate chloride of silver is blackened on exposure to light, while the foundation of photographic optics was laid by Della Porta in his invention about 1569 of the camera obscura—i. e., the darkening of nitrate of silver by light.

Experiments in 1777 by Scheele, a Swedish chemist, and by Ritter of Jena in 1801 in the action of rays of light upon horn silver carried the science a step further. But to Thomas Wedgwood of England belongs the honor of having been the first to produce photographs by the action of light on a sensitive surface, his researches being much aided by the observations of Sir Humphry Davy. These photographs were made in 1802.

Twelve years later Nicéphore Niépce of Chalons-sur-Saône was the first to produce permanent pictures by the means of solar radiation, his process, described as heliography, consisting in coating a piece of plated silver or glass with bitumen.

The daguerrotype, which did justice without mercy, was produced about 1839 by Daguerre and Niépce. For more than twenty years the daguerrotype, facetious descriptions of which are found in the pages of Samuel Leve, Dickens, Thackeray and Reade, held tyrannous sway. W. H. Fox Talbot in the meantime vainly trying to secure recognition for his calotype process, which, by the aid of paper steeped in nitrate of silver, produced the negative or invisible picture now used in all photographs.

To Howe is credited the invention of the changing box, containing a dozen or more plates with a special form of dark bath, which can be changed with one plate at a time from the box and then inserted in the camera for exposure.

Changes in the photographic apparatus with the introduction of sensitive films supported not on glass but on a flexible material led many leading photographers of the late sixties and early seventies to seek a material which, although possessing the transparency of glass, would be less brittle.—Boston Herald.

3. That the services of a domestic science teacher or other competent person be made available in every community, to direct the canning of vegetables, which will be raised this summer, thus insuring the conservation of food during these anxious times.

4. That the district needs the co-operation of the larger clubs as well as the smaller at these annual meetings and it is hereby ardently urged that each of these send delegates to the meetings.

5. That to the North Side Study club, who extended such a hearty hand of fellowship and greeting to us on our arrival and to the other good citizen of Aitkin for their hospitality and entertainment, thus making our visit so pleasant, we give our sincerest thanks, cordial thanks are also extended to the press for valued mention of our work and to the musicians who by their efforts added much to the interesting programs.

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. G. A. WHITNEY,

The Chestnut Blight.

The chestnut blight has already done damage estimated at close to $50,000,000. The disease attacks both American and European species, but does little damage to those from Japan and China. Plant breeders by crossing Japanese chestnut and native chinquapin have produced resistant trees. Some of the Chinese chestnuts are said to grow 100 feet high in their home forests.—Tree Talk.

Mighty Arcturus.

Arcturus is one of the most brilliant stars that we can see in the heavens. Its diameter is 62,000,000 miles. The light that comes to us from it is over 200 years old when it enters our eyes. The sun is distant 93,000,000 miles. Just compare the eight or nine minutes it takes for the sun's light to reach us with 200 years.

MOTHER'S DAY SUNDAY: WEAR WHITE CARNATION TO HONOR HER MEMORY

Next Sunday will be Mother's Day throughout the land, a day to let mother know you are thinking of her, to make her heart glad with word or message that you love her.

You may think that goes without saying—and, truth to tell, it generally does—but try it, and see what happens. See mother's face light up with joy; or, if you are far away send her a letter and then do a little imagining as to what it will mean to her.

Wear a white carnation next Sunday in honor of your mother, if she is dead, say the promoters of Mother's day, now a national institution, or a bright flower if your mother is living.

Right now, with America entered into the big world war and the young men of the nation about to be drafted into service, the hearts of the American mothers are sad and weighed down with sorrow and grief. If ever there was a time for a real whole-hearted observance of Mother's day it is right now.

And best of all is the sending of flowers to your mother. In this way she will know what you are thinking about, even if you have forgotten how to express it since you grew up.

"Jolly Six"

Mrs. Herman Weldemann entertained the "Jolly Six" on Tuesday afternoon, May 8th. The party was busily engaged in crocheting when about 4:30 the dining room door was opened and the hostess led the way into a regular "Japanese garden."

All had an exceptionally good time and not one returned home until after six o'clock.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 15th, at the home of Mrs. Henphin Carlson on Kingwood street and she announces to the "Jolly Six" that it will be "Flag Day" at her house.

Fine Art in Candle Making.

The making of candles is not ordinarily considered a fine art, but the Italians have made it such. The distinctive Italian votive taper is made by hand. The materials are pure beeswax, which is kneaded and tempered and mixed with a secret ingredient to retard combustion and which has special Egyptian cotton for wicks. The cotton, too, is treated with chemicals to keep it from feeding too fast. Small candles are molded. Large ones are made by rolling up sheets of wax. That gives the candle great strength and enables it to stand erect when a molded candle would bend under the heat. After the candle is fashioned it goes to the decorators, men who are skilled in the use of the brush, and when it leaves their hands it is a work of art.

The Fountain at the Corner.

Beranger is best known for his bacchanalian songs. One night he was at supper with Dumas the elder. The younger Dumas, who was present, was passing through his college course and at that period was exhibiting those characteristics which unfortunately developed in later life. Noticing that Beranger had drunk only water, he somewhat indiscreetly asked, "Where do you obtain, M. Beranger, all the wine which we find in your songs?" The poet's reply was, "From the fountain at the corner, my boy, and you would do well to make that the source of your inspiration."—London Spectator.

SAVE POTATO TIPS

Columbus, O., May 10.—Here is a potato "tip"—save it! Did you ever notice how the eyes on a potato are more numerous at the tip? Some one suggested to Governor Cox that each eye is the seed for a sprout. The result is that every Columbus hotel and restaurant, at the governor's request, is paring off the potato tips. They are being distributed to backyard gardeners, thus conserving the scanty potato supply. Governor Cox is now trying to get restaurant men in other Ohio cities to do the same. "Columbus alone is yielding many bushels of tops every day under this plan," said the governor today.

Dishes and Divorce.

If, as one clever writer avers, most divorces start over the breakfast cups how very important is the selection of one's china. For, despite the time honored legend that would have us believe the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, it is quite certain that beauty of the eyes goes as far toward promoting happiness as does digestion. Often they are one and the same thing. So in providing pretty tableware one never knows what dire calamities may be averted.

"Living up" to a fine bit of china, a good picture or piece of rare old silver has its advantages, not the least of which is the lasting pleasure of owning something really beautiful.—Mother's Magazine.

Make-up of the Army Battalion

Second of series of Unit Organization.

(By United Press)
Washington, May 10.—An army battalion is composed of four companies, and at peace strength totals 414 men and officers.
Three battalions compose a regiment, with subsidiary units.
A battalion is commanded by a major, with under officers—a first lieutenant and a battalion adjutant.
The battalion is not a tactical unit, operating as a component part of the regiment—the smallest tactical force. Neither is the battalion an administrative unit as is the regiment.
The cavalry equivalent of the infantry battalion is the squadron. It is composed of three troops, totaling 294 men, and is commanded by a major, a first lieutenant, and a squadron adjutant.
The field artillery battalion consists of either two or three batteries—two for mountain and light gun or howitzer battalions; and three for horse and heavy gun battalions. It is commanded by a major and a captain.

Brazil Controls its German Population

(By United Press)
Rio de Janeiro, April 15 (By Mail)
—Stories to the effect that German colonists settled in the three southernmost states of Brazil are sufficiently numerous and organized to dictate terms at the bayonet's point should the occasion ever arise were made to appear ridiculous by the publication today of statistics showing that the total number of Germans immigrating to Brazil since 1828 is less than 150,000.
Up to the time of the fall of the empire in 1889 only 75,387 Germans had entered Brazilian ports. From 1889 to 1915 this number was increased by 56,102, making a total of 131,489. The census returns give the descendants of these Germans as Brazilians—maybe "hyphenated" but Brazilians.

HEARTILY GREET
FRENCH MISSION

New Yorkers Go Wild Over Joffre and Viviani.

SALUTES STATUE OF LIBERTY

Hero of the Marne Battle Pays Solidarity Tribute While Crossing Hudson River—Former Premier Makes Longest Speech Since Arriving in the United States.

New York, May 10.—New York surrendered unconditionally to Joseph J. Joffre, marshal of the French army, and the French mission.
Not only did the world's largest city capitulate to the hero of the Marne and to Rene Viviani, former premier of France, who headed the war mission to the United States, but it accorded them a triumphal entry.
Never have visitors to New York been given so tremendous a welcome. At least a million of the citizens turned out to pay homage to the men of a sister republic.
Accustomed as they have begun to demonstrations of esteem since they set foot on American soil the Frenchmen were overwhelmed at that accorded them by New York.
Their coming was an historic event and it was celebrated in an historic way.
The men whom the city honored did not try to hide the emotion they felt. Smiling through their tears they were not permitted to forget that New York was proud to have within its gates the representatives of the best loved ally of the United States.
The members of the mission caught their first glimpse of Bartholdi's famous Statue of Liberty as they crossed the Hudson river on a police boat on their way to Manhattan.
Salute Statue of Liberty.
Viviani and Joffre stood at the rail, the former in silence with his hat at his side, the soldier at salute.
Then the city's sky line drew their attention as the boat approached the shore.
The Frenchmen were greeted by a reception committee and were escorted from the Battery to the city hall by a squadron of cavalry and two troops of mounted police, through the canyon of Broadway, which was choked with a wildly cheering multitude.
At the city hall they were formally welcomed to New York by Mayor Mitchell and Joseph H. Choate.
M. Viviani responded with the longest speech he has made since his arrival in America.
It was a Liberty day in the United States for the Frenchmen. It began with a visit to Independence hall in Philadelphia. It neared its end with the salute of the statue of Liberty.
Received with rousing cheers in Philadelphia the mission visited the grave of Benjamin Franklin and then went to the University of Pennsylvania, where M. Viviani and Marshal Joffre were given the honorary degree of doctor of laws.
Marshal Joffre received a marshal's baton made from the original timber of Independence hall and a gold-headed cane.

Russian General Assassinated.
Riga, Russia, May 10.—Major General Kartizoff, commander of the Siberian rifles division, has been assassinated. He was attacked while walking near the railroad station. His assailant disappeared.
The Tomb of Eve.
What is probably the most remarkable and strangest of all alleged Bible tombs is that which marks the supposed resting place of Eve, the mother of the human race. It lies about a mile to the north of Jeddah, the port of Mecca.
The tradition that Eve was buried here is older than Mohammed. Adam is believed by some to rest at his own peak in Ceylon, but this is debated by oriental scholars.
There had been a difference, so the Mohammedans say, between our first parents, and Eve spent the last years of her life at Jeddah, where she was buried, not far from the great temple in Mecca, which Moslem tradition ascribes to the hands of Adam himself.
A common legend attributes to Eve the height of 118 feet, but this does not correspond with the dimensions of her tomb, which is nearly 400 feet long! She must have been of a somewhat strange shape, as her grave is only ten or eleven feet wide!
In the middle of the grave is a small building containing a curious witness to the devotion of the Moslems. On the whitewashed walls of this little temple are hundreds of thousands of penciled names as far as the hand can reach.—Pearson's Weekly.

GERMANY INVENTS
SILENT SUBMARINE

Washington, May 10.—Germany has invented a silent U-boat, according to information received here.

The new German type is able to drive quietly through the ocean depths, creep upon its prey and discharge its torpedo without the victim having the slightest knowledge of an enemy's approach.
The German "noiseless" submarine has made ineffective the submarine detector which the British developed early in the war. The detector never gave perfect results, but it did indicate that a U-boat was within a radius of ten miles, though it was not able always to locate the exact direction it was moving.
The fact of the presence of a submarine was sufficient, however, to cause a steamer to send out a wireless for help and the call was responded to by destroyers and airplanes, with the result that the underwater boat was either destroyed or it was forced to retreat.

MEATLESS DAYS IN PARIS

No Sale on Thursday and Friday Evokes Criticism.
Paris, May 10.—The prohibition of the sale of meat after 1 p. m. has had little effect in reducing consumption, the saving realized having been less than 10 per cent, and accordingly the original plan for meatless days has been revived by Maurice Viollette, minister of subsistence. After May 15 the sale of meat, poultry or game in any form will not be permitted on Thursdays or Fridays and slaughter houses will be closed from 11 p. m. Tuesdays to 6 a. m. Fridays.
The measure is evoking strong criticism from provision dealers, who say it will dislocate business without appreciable result. They say that while the consumption of meat will diminish slightly, there will be an increased demand for other articles of food, entailing a rise of prices. The trade is in favor of meat cards and the minister announces he will introduce them if the meatless days fail to give the desired result.

MAY STRIKE SUDDEN BLOW

American Plans to Thwart U-Boats Will Be Kept Secret.
Washington, May 10.—Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, after a conference with W. L. Saunders, chairman of the naval consulting board, naval officials and scientists, on the submarine question, strongly intimated that when the solution of the problem is found it will not be made public and that the first hint the Germans will get of it will be when their submarines are destroyed or thwarted as they attempt to sink merchant vessels.
"I can only say our plans are not dreams. They are very important and very far-reaching," said the secretary.
Plans in lifesaving equipment are planned by the government to give American seamen a better chance for their lives when their ships are torpedoed.

Power of the President.
In the first part of his speech against conscription Speaker Champ Clark said:
"The president of the United States is the most powerful personage in the wide, wide world—more powerful than the kaiser, emperor or king or any other variety of potentate. It is because he is the head of 100,000,000 free people. That is the reason he is powerful. He has his functions to perform, and as far as I have been able to observe, he is not bashful about performing them."

Human Interrogation Point.
One of Congressman Gordon's fellow members described him as a "human interrogation point." Gordon is from Ohio and has served two terms in the house. But he did not have to wait two years to become the "interrogation point." It is a safe bet, day after day, in any debate on any question, that every speaker will be interrupted by Gordon with some kind of a question. Sometimes he is thrust aside, but he can be counted on to make the attempt; hence the nickname, which is a popular one.

True friends visit us in prosperity only when invited, but in adversity they come without invitation.—Theophrastus.

PRESIDENT CAN DEFEAT ENEMIES

Opposition to Executive Can't Be Explained at Home.

TAFT THE ONE EXCEPTION

Democrats Have Learned Their Lesson From History and Realize That Continued Success Means Selecting a Leader and Standing by Him—Stone's Sarcasm Stirs Senatorless Senate.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 10.—[Special.]—Few men can maintain themselves in power and popularity and oppose the president if the executive is a member of their own party. Only one president in my time failed to destroy the men who opposed him. President Taft's opponents among the Republicans survived, but mainly because they were backed by the strongest personality in politics of that time—Taft's predecessor.

Gorman of Maryland attacked Cleveland and was rebuffed. Many other Democrats who were opponents of Cleveland were forced into private life. Republicans never tried to oppose McKinley, and those who opposed Roosevelt suffered for their temerity.

Democrats Have Learned.

The Democrats took a lesson from the past and decided to stand by President Wilson. Some of the leaders have opposed him, but they have not succeeded in defeating him. The great majority of Democrats in the house and senate have found it advantageous to stand by the president. They have found that it is far better to support rather than oppose the president of their party. Every man can explain almost anything save why he had to oppose the president, particularly if it was over a vital matter.
And so the Democrats, having learned their lesson, having lived sixteen lean years because they could not get together, have concluded that the way to continued success is in picking a leader and standing by him.

Stone's Sarcasm.

After four or five days of debate on the army conscription bill senators became weary of hearing the same thing said over and over, and in consequence a number of strong speeches were made to empty seats. When Senator Stone of Missouri took the floor to speak there were not half a dozen senators in the chamber, which caused this gentleman to remark:
"The large assemblage of senators present is a conspicuous evidence of the profound interest they feel in the discussion of the grave questions before the senate. This presence is in its way an inspiration. I am all the more impressed by it because of the fact that senators rise from time to time to tell us early in their enlightening observations that they would raise an army at the earliest possible moment. Then they proceed to kill hours of time in hurrying to a vote on the bill."

When Lebas Dared Death.
In 1876 the granite obelisk that stood sentinel before the palace of Rameses III, at Luxor, for more than thirty centuries was taken to Paris. Its erection in the Place de la Concorde was marked by a fine example of civic courage. It had been brought from Egypt by the engineer Lebas in a river boat especially constructed at Toulon to navigate the Nile and the Seine. This boat was towed through the sea by a warship. When the cables used in raising the obelisk in its position in Paris were strained almost to breaking Lebas placed himself at once under the enormous stone as it began to move. If a single cable had broken all would have been over with the engineer. Explaining his hardihood, Lebas said it was to show the crowd of onlookers that he was sure of his calculations. A single error and he would have been crushed, and he preferred a tragic end to dishonor. "This," said Le Cri de Paris, "was before our day of interviews, and Lebas occupied only a few lines in the Constitutionnel, no more, no less than the periodical adventures of the sea serpent."

Misunderstood.

Dr. Walter Courtney Offers Services as Surgeon on Board—One Automobile Tendered

Sheriff Claus A. Theorin and County Auditor C. W. Mahlum have organized to get in machinery the federal call for registering those in this country eligible for service in Uncle Sam's army.

The sheriff and county auditor are to visit every precinct in the county and there name one responsible person to act as registrar.

Dr. Walter Courtney tendered his services as surgeon needed on the examining board. One man tendered his services as registrar in the fifth ward.

A. G. Trommald was the first to tender the use of his car to visit country precincts. Automobiles will be needed, more than just Mr. Trommald's, and those willing thus to aid their country are asked to promptly telephone the sheriff.

Sheriff, county auditor, Dr. Courtney, automobile owners, registrars, owners of buildings housing registrars for the day of registration shall act without pay. It is to be an organization of the people, by the people and for the people.

However, the response in automobiles and polling places donated is so slack in Brainerd, that people will have to be stirred up more.

WRITES FROM THE TRENCHES

Private R. J. Wilder "Somewhere in France" Describes Life at the Front Fighting Germans

AUNT SENT HOME GOODIES

Shared What Mrs. Joseph Falangan Sent With Fifty of his Comrades in the Dugout

In a letter to his aunt, Mrs. Joseph Falangan, of Brainerd, her nephew, Private R. J. Wilder of D. Co. 38th Battalion of Canadians, describes trench life somewhere in France. He acknowledged with pleasure the receipt of a ten pound package of home goodies which Mrs. Falangan had sent and which reached him right in the trench just a month from the time it was mailed at Brainerd. In the package was a fruit cake, tin of butter, loaf of white bread, tongue, cheese, raisins, dates and chocolate.

About him in the dugout stood fifty comrades with their mouths watering and he shared a bit with each.

"We are always in reach of the big guns," writes the young soldier. He said they were lucky to get what they did sometimes in mail service to the front. Transportation was a huge problem as vast numbers of men, rations, supplies, mail and parcels, ammunition and odds and ends were coming in a ceaseless stream.

Artillery fire had razed everything to the ground and it would take years to level the ground in shape to ever use it for anything.

Mr. Wilder enlisted with a re-organized Princess Pat regiment and after training in Canada and England went on the firing line early in February. His skill as a sharpshooter was quickly recognized and he was placed as a sniper.

Private Wilder writes he had just come off duty and was in a dugout when the welcome package sent by Mrs. Joseph Falangan arrived. The Germans were dropping shells all along the line making extra work to build up the trenches again.

He was expecting a parcel from his wife and he was surprised to see the package dated Brainerd. There were about 50 in the dugout and he divided the cake among the boys.

"We were all so mighty hungry for something good to eat, so I could not sit down and eat it by myself and watch the hungry looks on their faces. That cake surely looked tempting. I never tasted anything as good in my life. The butter was as solid and nice as when it left Brainerd. I would have thought it would melt before it got to the trenches."

He stated further that it was a sad sight to see all the towns razed to the ground by shell fire with not a brick left standing. A few stumps of trees marked spots where once there were beautiful woods. "It's terrible beyond description. The country is all dug up with trenches, dugouts and shell holes. It will take years to level the ground alone, let alone rebuilding the villages. No one has not seen this country can realize the desolation, what this war is like and what it means to this country and the people who live here."

"I am a sniper with No. 1 section of my platoon of the machine gun section. So I reckon I'll have a chance to lop off a few of the enemy before summer is over. We are driving the Germans back step by step every day. (The letter is dated March 29.)

"Town by town he is giving up and retreating and I hope we'll finish him this summer. I don't want to spend another winter in this country, too much mud and rain, and I tell you trench warfare is no moving picture parade with fine clothes and shiny buttons and equipment. It's hard labor and mud, pure and simple. It's getting to be a trade instead of a war."

The letter came through the lines after being examined by the field censor and the base censor and stamped by the field postoffice and all marks obliterated to show what section of France it came from.

FOREST FIRE RAGES

Large Stretch of Country South of Hubert Lake is Burned Over—Fire is Under Control

Word was sent to Brainerd today by George Rardin, who lives at Gull lake, that a serious fire was raging south of Hubert lake and that help had been called for to protect lake and farm property. Later in the day Mr. Rardin telephoned that the fire had been placed under control and that no further danger was feared unless some other fire started up. The fire burned over a large stretch of country and did considerable damage to standing timber.

People cannot be too careful about fires at this season of the year and especially when the ground is dry, it being stated that the fire today was one started by some party dumping out ashes from the stove in which there was fire and that it ignited the leaves on the ground and was soon in the woods going like a race horse.
